Science activity to do at home

DIY Raincloud Science Activity

If your child has ever wanted to know how rain clouds form then this is a super fun activity, especially on an actual rainy day! Just get a mason jar, shaving cream, and food coloring and you’re ready to go.

How to support self-help skills at home

During dressing routine, break down the steps of doing a zipper by attaching the teeth of a zipper. Ask your child to pull up the zipper while you hold the bottom. This supports self-help skills, reduces frustration and supports the toddler’s active involvement while dressing. Praise for all efforts!

Important to note:

Please provide your child with spring clothes such as splash pants, rain boot, rain jacket sun hat. Remember to label all belongings! *Please remember to take snow boots home.

Enriching the Program

We will be enriching our program by offering extra experiences. A person by the name of Karen has been and will be coming in every two weeks to play an instrument and sing to the children. She will incorporate actions as well to have the children do some movement as well!

We will be focusing on literacy, music and creative movement.
