How Does Learning Happen?

How Does Learning Happen? Sets out a shared understanding of children, families, and educators.

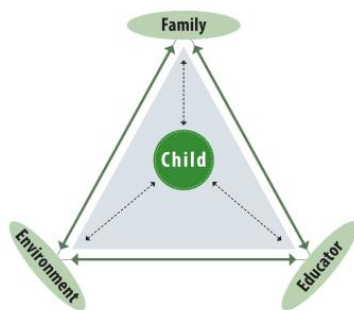

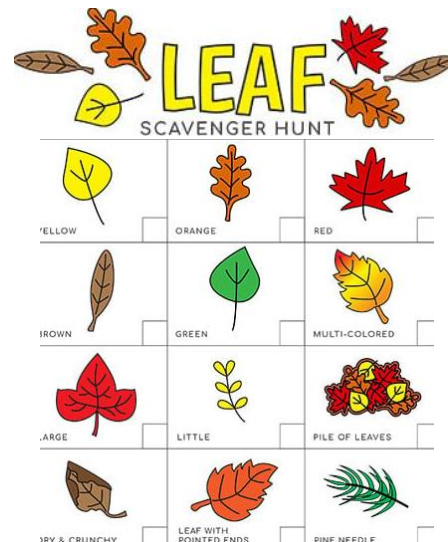

Figure 1. Learning and development happens within the context of relationships among children, families, educators, and their environments.

Fun activities to do at home:

Go for a leaf hunt – going for a walk and collecting different coloured leaves can:

- Support cognitive development
- Observation skills
- Language skills
- Fine motor skills

No need to make it complicated, toddlers learn by exploring, noticing, touching, moving and talking with the family.

Puddle Jumping – wonderful experience to put on boots and rain gear on a rainy fall day:

- Supports gross-motor development
- Sensory exploration
- Build confidence/independence

On the next rainy day, embrace the splashes and let everyone explore to make special family memories.
